

Sean Lux, Ph.D., MBA
Visiting Assistant Professor

Sean Lux is a visiting instructor at the University of South Florida's Center for Entrepreneurship. He has a PhD in Management from Florida State University where he has taught Business Strategy and Policy and Contemporary Leadership. He earned his MBA from the University of South Florida and a BS in Civil Engineering from Norwich University. Sean then received his commission in the U.S. Army and served with the 1st Battalion, 27th Infantry, 1st Battalion, 8th Field Artillery, and 2nd Battalion, 505th Parachute Infantry. He has also held positions in companies ranging from high tech entrepreneurial startups to the Fortune 500 gaining experience in marketing, operations, audit, and general management. Sean's research interests include the role of personality characteristics and social networks in opportunity recognition and exploitation, entrepreneurial strategy formulation, and the role of firms in shaping society.